

Trust Estates

Should Be Carefully Managed . . .

If a widow of a testator is made executrix, the cases are rare where she has had a business training or experience requisite to safely settle the estate, and she must always necessarily depend on some friend or agent to take the responsibility; she does not wish the position; the work is hard and distasteful to her, and the agent becomes, in fact, the executor. If any member of the family is appointed, it frequently begets bad blood and charges of partiality or mismanagement.

"This," said a long, lean man, who sat in three chairs at the ball game yesterday, "reminds me of the man whose wife had occasion to give him admonition with the rolling pin every evening for a period of time extending nearly through the week. 'It ain't the lickins I mind so much,' he explained to the sympathizing friend who was drinking at his expense and listening to his plaint, 'It ain't the lickins I mind so much, as the ding-twisted, outlandish, dad-durned monotony of the proceedings!'"

The monotony monotoned along yesterday in a way calculated to set people to wondering if some malicious and unpatriotic hater of our bunch of noble batsmen had not sprinkled hoodoo water over the field in quantities. About the only perceptible difference was the indecent haste of the gentlemen in black in getting in the fatal two runs in the fourth inning, instead of waiting until the customary sixth. There was also a notable improvement in the fielding of the Hoosiers, the number of errors being reduced from seven, Friday, to a mere half dozen yesterday afternoon. This may be regarded as a hopeful sign.

Frank Foreman was in the box, or, perhaps, it is better, under the circumstances, to use the expression so beloved of baseball linguists, "on the slab." It has a more morose-sounding sound. Foreman's delivery, while not startling, was better than that put up by Brown, of the Bisons, and all he needed was to feel that behind him, like a stone wall, were his friends and sympathizers, ready to lend a helping hand. But they weren't. The willingness was there, but the talent in the column devoted to the result, as it let the visitors out of playing the last half of the ninth, and let the Hoosiers' batsmen leave the place at a little earlier than otherwise.

Buffalo's opening run was made by Pickering. He got first on a bouncer's choice, stole second and came in home on Greninger's single. In the fourth, Fleming's mis-handling of the ball let McGraw swing a single into two bases. Householder made a three-base hit, scoring McQuaid and after word coming McGraw's sacrifice hit, scored from Allen to Motz. In the ninth, Pickering singled, scored second on Massey's sacrifice, and came in home on Greninger's single that Flynn enlarged into a two-bagger.

Fleming scored the third on a choice, a steal of second, a fly-out of Stewart to center and McFarland's single. Motz opened the fourth with a three-bagger, scoring a repetition of the same by Beville, who scored on Allen's hit. The analytical resume:

Baseball Notes.

Hickey signed yesterday and was a strong support. Mr. Beville did very well, thank you, in his first championship game.

"An' the little place o' Tailholt is good enough for me," Captain Allen. The Milwaukee management saves a little money by not posting the scores on a bulletin board.

If Allen's men don't wrest to-day's game from Nash's bunch of docters, it will not be for want of earnest effort. Hogriever has been called away to attend to the funeral of his father, the father of whose death was received yesterday.

Hickey's quick throw to Motz in the line, hitting McQuaid, was equalled only by the "old reliable" catch of the ball.

Perry Werden's broken knee, which was thought to be all right, has proved to be weak and unable to stand the pace of championship ball. It is probable he is out of the game.

Game will be called to-day at 3 o'clock. It may be the last Sunday game played here, as the Supreme Court is expected to hand down a decision this week in the Hogriever case.

Deny Accepting Gratitudes.
NEW YORK, April 29.—All of the customs inspectors who are charged with irregularities of paying him $500 a year. Croft have filed answers to the charges. Each of the twenty-two men deny the allegations, and some of the answers are accompanied by affidavits signed by passengers denying the inspectors' charges.

Collector Bidwell said he will carefully examine every case and no man will be recommended for removal unless absolute proofs of his guilt shall be established.

YALE WON MOST RACES

BUT PENNSYLVANIA ADDED A NEW RECORD TO HER LAURELS.

24 Feet 3-1/2 Inches Jumped by A. C. Kraenzlin, the Champion Hurdler—Summaries of Contests.

PHILADELPHIA, April 29.—Yale carried off the honors at the annual carnival of relay races held under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania on Franklin field to-day, the first quarter of the winning the one-mile, two-mile and four-mile championship relay races. Although Pennsylvania was disappointed in the outcome of these events, she is happy because one of her men now holds the American broad jump record. A. C. Kraenzlin, who is also the American champion hurdler, jumped 24 feet 3 1/2 inches, breaking the American record of 23 feet 5 3/4 inches, held by Myer Prinstein, of Syracuse University. The latter was also entered in the event, but the best he could do was to jump 22 feet 3 1/2 inches.

Over 8,000 persons attended the carnival of sports. It was a great success, over eighty preparatory schools and colleges being represented. The greatest race of the day was the one-mile college relay championship. There were three teams entered in the event, Yale, Pennsylvania and Chicago University. It was a most exciting contest between the first two teams. Chicago, of Yale, just beat out Cooke, of Pennsylvania, in the first quarter. The runners in the next quarter were Luce, for Yale, and Kraenzlin, for Pennsylvania. The latter made up the ground lost by his predecessor, but soon played out, and when the third pair of men took up the running Yale had a lead of twenty yards. The final quarter was very exciting, the spectators rising and yelling like mad. The fleet Tewkesbury, for Pennsylvania, by a magnificent dash, almost caught Boardman, Yale's fourth runner. The distance was too great, however, and the Yale man won the quarter and the race by about ten yards. The Chicago University men could not stand the great pace and were out of it after a half mile had been run.

In the two-mile and four-mile relay championships Yale's men got a good lead early and won both events rather easily. The one-mile relay race between Columbia, Cornell and Lafayette was also a good contest, the Columbia team winning by a small margin. There were more than a dozen one-mile relay races between colleges and preparatory schools, and many of them were very closely contested. Summaries of the most important events:

One-mile college relay championship: C. Gleason, C. T. Luce, T. B. Fisher, D. Boardman, Yale, first; W. Cook, A. C. Kraenzlin, E. A. Deakin, T. W. Tewkesbury, Pennsylvania, second; G. Garland, Pennsylvania, third. Time, 2:23 seconds.

Two-mile relay championship: Two starters, Yale first, Pennsylvania second. Time, 5:30.

Four-mile championship: Two starters, Yale first, Pennsylvania second. Time, 12:23 seconds.

One-mile relay: Columbia University first, Cornell University second, Lafayette College third. Time, 2:23 seconds.

One-mile relay: Two starters, Georgetown University, Washington, first; Western University of Pennsylvania, second; F. H. Warren, Yale, third. Time, 2:23 seconds.

One-mile relay: University of New York first, Haverford College second, Swarthmore College third. Time, 2:45 seconds.

One-mile relay: Two starters, Johns Hopkins first, University of Maryland second. Time, 2:45 seconds.
